

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE: Anastasia Stull joins CrossCheck Compliance as Managing Director

Chicago, IL – September 23, 2016 - CrossCheck Compliance announced today that Anastasia (“Tasia”) Stull has joined the firm as a managing director to help expand the company’s presence nationally.

“We are excited to have Tasia join the CrossCheck team”, said CrossCheck Compliance President and CEO Jim Jorgensen. “With her extensive experience in enforcement actions, examinations, and complex litigation, Tasia is well-positioned to work with management, boards of directors, law firms, and other business partners on regulatory compliance matters.”

Prior to joining CrossCheck Tasia held consulting roles at New Oak and Treliant Risk Advisors. She also spent more than a decade practicing law, including six years at BuckleySandler. Throughout her career, she has regularly interacted with staff members of the FRB, OCC, FDIC, CFPB, SEC and state banking commissions and attorneys general. For eight years Tasia served on the board of Women in Housing & Finance, a prominent non-profit in Washington, DC, primarily in an executive role and served as president from 2014-2015. Tasia is an approved securities industry arbitrator for FINRA Dispute Resolution’s Arbitration Program and is a Certified Regulatory Compliance Professional (CRCP).

“CrossCheck has established a great legacy of partnering with clients to help them manage and mitigate risk, strengthen controls and improve performance”, said Stull. “Together with the CrossCheck team, I am committed to delivering the best quality service and highest impact results for our clients.”
