Continuity Chooses CrossCheck Compliance LLC as Its Regulatory Compliance Consulting Partner

Continuity, a leading provider of technology solutions for compliance, risk and performance management, has chosen CrossCheck Compliance LLC, a leader in regulatory compliance consulting, to expand its ability to serve the financial institutions marketplace.

New Haven, CT– February 4, 2021: Continuity announced today that it has entered into formal agreement to work with CrossCheck Compliance LLC as its recommended partner for their clients who need regulatory compliance consulting services, a move designed to complement Continuity’s industry leading software solutions in this ever-evolving financial institutions marketplace.

In making this announcement, Continuity CEO, Mike Nicastro, stated, “The team at Continuity is excited to be working with the team at CrossCheck. Their reputation for regulatory compliance consultation and engagement execution is stellar. Combining CrossCheck’s compliance expertise with our state-of-the-art technology is an overall win/win for our clients and the industry.”

Jim Jorgensen, president & CEO of CrossCheck, stated, “There are times when a financial institution chooses to use both a technology solution and consulting services to meet its compliance needs. We appreciate the trust and confidence that Continuity has placed in CrossCheck.”

With a new administration in Washington, the approaching aftermath of the pandemic and a renewed focus on consumer protection by regulatory agencies, financial institutions will increasingly be challenged to find the best combination of resources to meet their compliance needs. Continuity and CrossCheck have positioned themselves to be able to help financial institutions meet the challenges that lie ahead,
